Yes, Wedding Programs are not only a professional and informative way of communicating the sequence of events; it can also be used as souvenirs.

The Wedding Program is guaranteed to make your guest feel a part of the celebrations, especially if incorporating ethnic traditions, special readings and performances.

RAD Event Production has designed several Wedding Programs over the years. Your Wedding Program should include these 15 elements:

1. Wedding couple's full name / Monogram "optional" / Art work "optional"
2. Wedding date and start time
3. Wedding ceremony address / Reception address "optional"
4. Officiant name(s)
5. Include names of those performing: scripture passage, soloist, special tribute, organist etc. Include brief descriptions of ceremony such as: unity candle, salt covenant, coin exchange ceremony, laying of veil or any other ceremony you choose to incorporate
6. Names of those participating in the bridal party
7. Names of the bride and groom's parents / grandparents "optional"

Reception Section of Program

8. Emcee's full name
9. First Dance – Title of song and name of artist "optional"
10. Blessing of meal – name of individual who will bless the meal "optional"
11. Names of those giving the Toasts "optional"
Note: Traditionally, the first toast is from the best man to the bride and groom and the second toast is from the groom followed by the bride.
12. Blessing of the cake – name of individual " optional"
13. Cutting of the cake
14. Bouquet and Garter toss "Optional"
15. Groom's reply followed by a formal "thank you" in the program

Including these 15 elements in your wedding program is sure to keep your guests informed as the day progresses. Remember the wedding program can be customized to your specific needs. Incorporating eye-catching designs with embossed paper creates a formal look for any special occasion. Wedding Programs are usually printed on 5½ x 8½ folded, 5½ x 7¼ flat or 8½ x 11 - 2 or 3-panel fold paper. Assign ushers to distribute the programs to the guests or they can be placed in a nicely decorated container where the guests enter so that they may help themselves. RAD Event Production Inc. has a wide variety of wedding programs to choose from.
